

THEATER GOERS IN LONDON ARE NUMEROUS

Many New Shows for Coming Season, Writes Edwin Wilson.

Theatrical world in London continues brilliant instead of declining, according to letters written by Edwin Wilson to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Wilson. Civilians and men back from the front demand a respite from the depressing gloom of the war. Mr. Wilson is playing one of the leading roles in "Lila Domino," which has recently rounded out a series of 210 performances.

Excerpts from a letter follow: "London, Aug. 4, 1918. "Dearest Mother and Father—I am just off to lunch with Capt. Eric Portt and Maj. McFarland, friends of mine and more like Americans than anything else. I do surely meet people from all over the world, for the city now is full of United States army men of every description. Yesterday there was a young chap, Lawrence Wovewlewski, a young Pole from California, at our table at lunch. Another boy in the uniform of the British army, but a United States man from Jacksonville, Charles Scabs, of United States, and two others from the south and myself. So you see how varied my acquaintance is here.

"Well, we celebrated the 21th performance last night of the play to standing room only. It is a remarkable hit and its management says nothing of changing or closing. So here I am, playing in one of London's biggest hits, but really longing for home and yet I feel I am very fortunate. If the war was over, I'd be quite content to stay here, for then I know you could come over easily in five or six days for a visit. They do treat the American people wonderful and it is a pleasure to play. The J. L. Sacks office had another success in "Going Up" and is rehearsing at the famous old Drury Lane theater. A great spectacle, "Shanghai," to go on Aug. 28.

"Yesterday I saw the royal family again on their way to open the new administrative offices of Australia. It was a rainy day and the procession was done away with. Only four carriages and very few attendants.

"Today the fourth anniversary of the war is a day of prayer. At 8 o'clock the bishop of London will offer a prayer before a great shrine in Hyde park for the allies and those 'gone over.' Every one will lay a simple flower on the altar or greens and later they will all be taken to the hospitals. I wish Mr. Robertson would have a shrine outside the church where people might lay a flower to 'all our dead in France,' and say a prayer for the living. You find them here even in the courtyards of the tenement houses, beautiful with growing flowers.

"Elsie Janis has been here the past week entertaining at the different huts, and, of course, made a tremendous hit. I believe she has gone back to France. "I am going to the baseball game. Sounds strange, but it is in 'charity,' big crowds go over in London on Sunday."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Richey, 323 Boyce street, of this city, have the honor of having three boys at the front fighting for "old glory." They are Sanford Roscoe Richey, who is now with Company B, 117th engineers, Rainbow division; James C. Richey, who is with the headquarters troop of the 30th division; and D. J. Richey, with Battery C, 66th artillery, who has just written home from England. He says in his letter that England is a beautiful country, and that while they get plenty to eat, of course it isn't as good as American food. He told that they had sheep meat twice every day, which is about the only kind of meat they have. He also said in his letter that everything was very high and it was almost impossible to get anything.

The selectmen recently given such a whole-hearted send-off by the members of the Chattanooga Real Estate exchange have arrived safely at Camp Wheeler, Ala., and are now in quarantine. Though some of the members were turned down after a physical examination, practically all stuck to their guns and their farewells celebration the following letter has been received by John R. Evans, president of the local exchange:

"John R. Evans, Real Estate Association, Chattanooga, Tenn. 'Gentlemen—Camp life here is fine. We are under quarantine, but are anxious to be assigned to regular companies and get settled down to duty serving our country.

Y. W. C. A. DELEGATES MAKE DOWN THEIR OWN BERTHS IN PULLMAN

Porter George Proves Too Slow and Nashville Women Set Precedent That Might Pave Way for the Drafting of All "Georges."

(By the Press Agents.) It had never been done before, NO NEVER! It took a woman to think of it. And it took a whole lot of 'em to pull it off.

When Mr. Pullman hears about it he'll be ready to let all the porters be drafted and not give a hang. Last night was when it happened. Here's how it was—

Because of this War Work Campaign conference here in Chattanooga today and tomorrow, a car load of Y. W. C. A. women—and girls, too—came down from Nashville to see that the Y. W. was given its part of the big things that are to come off this fall, when the war effort drives places. To take care of all these Y. W.'s Mr. Pullman had to hook on an extra car to the night train. You see the men of the Y. M. C. A. and the other five men's organizations in the first united war work campaign had bought up all the lower and upper, too, in the regular car and the women had to have a car all to themselves. They had it, too—almost.

George—the porter—we'll call him George—was like the car, put on extra. George evidently hadn't made many trips, certainly not with a carload of women. George got frustrated. It took him an hour to make down the first section—and then—

"Look here, porter, we can't sit up all night waiting for you to make up these berths," said Mary, "give me the keys."

George protested he couldn't give up his keys—but he did.

So Mary started. She let down the upper, pulled out the end partition, spread out the mattress, went to the locker for sheets and pillow slips, hung up the hammock, hooked the curtains to the top rod, and presto, No. 9 was ready.

Mary had started something. A dozen other women were doing the same sort of stunts before she was half finished. And before Tullahoma was reached every woman in that car was soundly sleeping in the berth she had made down by her own little self.

Oh, yes, there were a few men on the train, too, the upper. When the door girls had shown 'em it could be done, they pitched in and made their own berths. In fact, they had to do it, for George had retreated at the first attack and left that car to its own devices.

So, if Mr. Pullman pulls the porters off the cars, don't blame him. These still be met and conferred with by the French and British selectmen.

Protectionist Trap. The single-minded enthusiasm of Havelock Wilson, whose Seamen's and Firemen's union by a courageous and consistent policy has prevented any possibility of the allied socialists being carried to the front, has been the thin end of a protectionist wedge. His proposal to the congress to commit labor to a five-year post-war economic boycott of Germany was regarded by the thin end of the protectionist wedge, and in view of the elements outside the labor party supporting it, namely, the Morning Post, the Daily Mail, the Times, the Daily Express and the Daily Telegraph, all four of which have pronounced protectionist as well as Tory leanings, there was real ground for this suspicion.

It was not until the congress met with Havelock Wilson in the horror and devastation he had for the crimes and dangers that the origin of his attitude was revealed, but his proposition did not appear to them as the right way of going to work.

The congress should incur the stigma of not agreeing to Wilson's denunciation of the crimes it evaded giving a direct vote on his resolution, and defeated it by carrying the previous question, thus getting rid of the five-year post-war boycott plan. The resolution also contained. The congress represented some five million trade unionists, and the majority of them are not protectionist, although they were its chosen delegates.

When the straight question of adhering to the free trade policy was put, it was carried by 2,711 to 291, the minority being almost identical with that supporting Havelock Wilson's proposed boycott.

Protectionists Dejected. It was not until the congress met with Havelock Wilson in the horror and devastation he had for the crimes and dangers that the origin of his attitude was revealed, but his proposition did not appear to them as the right way of going to work.

These City Physicians Explain Why They Prescribe Nuxated Iron

TO MAKE HEALTHIER WOMEN AND STRONGER STURDIER MEN Now Being Used By Over Three Million People Annually

By enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells, it often quickly transforms the flabby flesh, toneless tissue and pallid cheeks, of weak, anemic men and women into a glow of health. Increases the strength of delicate, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

It is conservatively estimated that over three million people annually in this country alone are taking Nuxated Iron. Such astonishing results have been reported from its use both by doctors and laymen, that a number of physicians in various parts of the country have been asked to explain why they prescribe it so extensively, and why it apparently produces so much better results than were obtained from the old forms of inorganic iron.

Extracts from some of the letters received are given below. Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author, says: "There can be no vigorous iron men or healthy, rosy-cheeked women without iron. Pallor means anemia. Anemia means iron deficiency.

The skin of anemic men and women is pale; the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fags and the memory fails and they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks. I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard looking patients."

Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago and former House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, in commenting on Nuxated Iron, says: "This remedy has a proven through my own tests of it to excel any preparation I have ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders."

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Out-door) (Dept.), N. Y., and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "In my opinion a careful examination of the formula of Nuxated Iron by any physician or pharmacist should convince him that it is to be placed among the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It excels anything I have ever used for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles, thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, formerly Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital of New York City, said: "I have never before given any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results."

Dr. T. Alphonso Wallace, a physician of many years, existing in this country and abroad, says: "I do not make a practice of recommending advertised medicinal products, but I have found Nuxated Iron so potent in nervous, run-down conditions, that I believe all should know of it. If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, there are probably thousands who might readily build up their red blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get themselves into a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost continually around us. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it."

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.
